

Some diseases can be spread to another person during sex, even if they feel well and have recovered.
Always use a condom.