

Animals can carry germs that spread disease to people. Never touch sick or dead animals without protection. Always wash hands after touching or slaughtering animals.